New United Nations International Days

20 July 2020

Dear Mr. Secretary-General,

as you, we believe in the universal values the United Nations stand for: peace, justice, human dignity, tolerance and solidarity - and we wish a world federation of humanity would cease the scourge of war.

That is why we urge the United Nations (Secretary-General and General Assembly) to introduce two new United Nations' International Days:

1. United Nations' International Day of Mutual Aid and Solidarity on each 15 January (Dr. Martin Luther King's Jr.'s Birthday)
2. United Nations' International Day of Compassion and Empathy on each 9 September (Leo Tolstoy's Birthday)

We are missing these days and we doubt anyone else takes action.

Sincerely yours,

Christian Bartolf
